HISTORY AND MISSION

Carter Conboy was founded in 1920 when J. Stanley Carter and M. James Conboy became partners in the practice of law. Our practice has diversified and expanded significantly since then to meet the needs of a growing client base and today's challenges. We currently assist thousands of businesses, government entities, and individuals with a wide variety of legal matters, and appear regularly in state and federal courts throughout all of New York and Massachusetts. Our mission, however, remains essentially unchanged from when we began: to provide quality "large firm" services to our clients, with "small firm" care and attention to detail.

PHILOSOPHY

We embrace, and are guided by, the following key principles:

■ Relationships Matter.

We understand the value relationships can have in the success or failure of our clients' legal matters and we undertake to maximize this value for our clients' benefit.

■ What You Can't See Can Hurt You.

We provide value to our clients by working to understand all of the facts and issues which are important to their matters, not just the ones which are easily seen.

■ Today's Deal may be Tomorrow's Lawsuit.

We live and do business in a contentious and litigious society. Fortunately, our attorneys are as experienced and accomplished in the courtroom as they are at the closing table. Our transactional clients can be confident that their interests will be protected should litigation occur, and our litigation clients can be assured that their trial attorney understands how a deal is made.

■ Smart Businesses Don't Compete: They Out-Think and Out-Innovate.

We embrace creativity and innovation in the practice of law and we undertake, by our efforts, to achieve a competitive advantage for our clients.
